How to insert and embed SWF files into MS Word 2007 documents to watch slideshows in Word?

In order to embed SWF presentations into a MS Word(2007, 2008, 2010) Document, you need to follow these steps below to import "Shockwave Flash Object" control and insert SWF files:

1. Add "Show Developer tab to Word 2007, 2010, 2008". Click Microsoft Office Button on the top left and click "Word Options", then choose "Show Developer tab in the Ribbon" and click "OK". (View the sample picture)
2. Import "Shockwave Flash Object". On the Developer tab, click the icon of hammer and go to "Controls" group. Click the icon of hammer and nail for "More Controls" to the "More Controls" window, then select "Shockwave Flash Object" and click "OK". Then a control square will be imported inside to word. Use your mouse to drag and resize the control(View the sample picture)

3. Please right click the square control to choose "Properties" to "Properties" window.(sample picture)

4. On this "Properties" window, you click the "Movie" property and type SWF full drive path in the value column. (For example, C:\word.swf or URL e.g. <http://www.yourwebsite.com/word.swf> from a website) (view sample picture below)
